Elementis plc
Innovation Day

Elementis plc ("Elementis" or the "Group"), will hold an innovation day for investors and analysts at 2pm today at its new office and laboratories in Porto, Portugal.

The day will be hosted by Luc van Ravenstein, Chief Executive Officer, and will include presentations from the wider management team responsible for driving innovation and change at Elementis, as well as practical demonstrations focusing on innovative technologies and products. No new material financial disclosure or guidance will be given.

A video recording of the event will be available on Elementis' website in due course.

Luc van Ravenstein, CEO of Elementis, said:

"Last week we issued a trading update showing that our 'Elevate Elementis' strategy is progressing well, with revenue up 7%[1] for the nine months to September despite mixed end market conditions.

Today, we are looking forward to welcoming investors and analysts to our Innovation Day where we will lay out our plans to drive sustainable mid-single-digit revenue growth."
